

Week 2

This week you are learning countries and nationalities, revising how to ask and answer questions about identity, and how to give information in the third person singular.

Resources

To help you practise how to recognise, how to pronounce, how to remember and how to write the key language, do one or more of the following tasks:

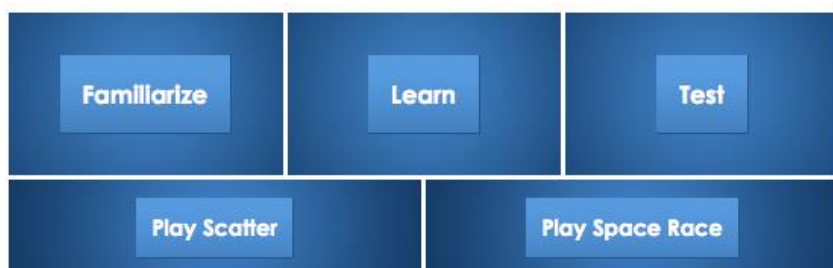

1 www.quizlet.com

Quizlet is a free online flashcard site. You can sign up for an account and make and save your own flashcards very simply and easily, by copying / pasting your Spanish – English vocabulary sets into it. Alternatively you can browse for a set uploaded by another user and use that to learn with.

Here is an example of a set of 25 countries and their corresponding nationalities in Spanish:

There are several activities you can do. First, familiarise yourself with the language by clicking through the flashcards. You will hear the pronunciation, too. The Learn stage prompts you to type the correct word, using the reverse of the flashcard (in this case you get the nationality in Spanish and you have to type the country). The Speller stage gives you the audio and you have to type correctly. The Test phase gives you a variety of question types to see how well you know the words. Space Race and Scatter are games!

Now, take a short break and listen to this South American countries and capital cities rap. It is useful for your pronunciation of some key countries in Spanish.
