

Writing: points to consider

- Know your students' learning profile and needs
- Make sure learners have a 'model' in mind for the task
- Consider the opportunities for peer assessment
- Give a manageable and meaningful target for re-drafting tasks
- Consider how to use reading tasks to enhance writing skills

Action planning

Write down one activity you will try out in your teaching next week.

Think about two of your students. What are the priorities in terms of writing development for those students?

What might you do to help these 2 students make progress in their writing?
